BACKGROUND

As a background to the THS Vision lies the organisations mission, which describes why the organisation exists, and also its values, which describes what is important for the organisation.

THS Mission

THS Mission is defined in the organisations Charter §1.2 Purpose;

THS has a prime purpose to watch and contribute in the development of the education and the conditions for studies at the Royal Institute of Technology. THS should act for good cohesion and companionship between students at the Royal Institute of Technology.

THS Core Values

THS operations are guided by a set of core values. These words represent our core values and is defined with the intention to be used as a tool for both strategic and operational work.

Identity: Fellowship and pride. We together create the student union at KTH, with an explicit pride for our university and who we are.

Aspiration: Progress through ambition. We always strive to do better, as individuals and as an organisation, through high standards for ourselves and in our work for improvements.

Procedure: Joy in participation. We build our operations on the activities and platforms we create for each other. This work must be joyful and attractive.

Purpose

The purpose with THS Vision is to describe what the organisation should strive for. The document is meant to serve as guidance in the development of both long term and short term strategies for the organisation.

Objective

The objective of THS Vision is to create continuity and long-term development for the organisation that is not limited by the short-term electoral cycles.

THS VISION

THS Vision is built like a house, with an overall vision as its roof. THS Vision is broken down into four pillars that symbolize the different work areas and more specific visions, while the foundation stands for the stable base which all other operations rest on.

The overall vision is: "THS gives all students¹ a meaningful study time, leisure time and future."

Foundation

THS operation rest upon a strong organisation.

THS is a thriving organisation, both structurally and economically. It is clear for all students at KTH what THS is and does. All students feel a strong affiliation to the university and the student union. THS safeguards good democracy, represents all students' interests and is imbued by diversity and equality.

Future

All students get their dream employment.

THS creates possibilities for all students at KTH to get the employment they want when done with their studies. Students gets the possibility to meet potential employers already during their time of study, and students know what they would like to do when they have finished their studies.

Education

All students should feel that their education is relevant during and after their time of study.

THS enable all students at KTH to have a qualitative learning environment and education. Course structures, pedagogics and learning environments act together to shape Sweden's best engineers and architects.

Student welfare - leisure time

All students have the opportunity to participate in meaningful and stimulating leisure activities.

THS has a diverse range of associations and activities. All students feel fellowship and have a place to be during their free time.

Student welfare - study time

All students have a study time free of trouble

THS enables students at KTH to fully focus on their studies. Everyday necessities such as housing, food, health and course literature should not concern students or take focus from the studies.
